

Editorial

Welcome to this, the first Special Issue of the Journal of Cetacean Research and Management. From time to time the Journal will publish Special Issues on particular topics. Although these will follow the same Editorial standards and procedures they will often involve guest editors and be hardbound. They will be additional to the standard Journal subscription and will be charged for separately; they also have a different ISSN number (ISSN 1561-073X).
